Timeline Directions
Stacey Lane

You can make a simple timeline to accompany the lessons in All American History Jr. by using a long piece of string (about five feet) and the timeline figures that you will find following these directions. Timeline figures have been created for many (but not all) of the lessons.

It works best to produce a separate timeline for each of the four quarters.

When working on a lesson, cut out the timeline figures for that lesson and write the appropriate dates on the top, bottom, side, or inside of the figures. The lesson plans provide the dates to write on each lesson's Timeline Figures. You can also find those dates in boxes beneath the figures.

Once you have cut out and dated a lesson's timeline figures, fold them over a string and staple them shut. The figures will stay in place better if you place your staples at the top of the figure close to the string.

Storing your timeline in a Ziploc bag will help prevent it from becoming tangled.
