Coloring recommendations from the artist:

While crayons are ideal for other coloring books, colored pencils are actually the best choice for coloring these pages. For a better variety of colors (and to have the most fun) get a box of 24 or 50 colored pencils. Here are some ways you can make the most of your pictures:

- Have fun picking colors! If you're coloring the sky, what color is it? Is it blue because it's daytime? If so, what kind of blue? Or if it is sunrise or sunset, what colors would you pick for those times of day?
- Pressing harder or softer on the pencil adds even more color options. It also makes for an interesting picture when you color using different pressures. Press hard if you want the area to look more solid (like a tree trunk) and press lightly if you want to make the area to look softer (like the sky).
- Don't forget the background! If there is nothing in the background, pick one color (or more!) and color it in!

Here is one that I colored in myself.

Finally, while you are coloring, ask yourself two things. What am I coloring? How does this relate to the lesson? It's a great way to help you remember what you are learning!

I hope you enjoy coloring these pages!

Directions:

Each week of The Mystery of History Volume II has one coloring page with three images per page. Each image represents a single lesson from that week. The images are arranged from top-to-bottom (as shown below). If you want to know the lesson's title, please refer to the table of contents on pages iv–vi. To print out a single page, click the “print” icon at the bottom of the page (the icon itself will note print). Enjoy!
